

Dr. Milan Krajnc is an academic and university professor in the field of management. He has been running a private practice in the field of psychotherapy for 15 years. He has been solving crisis situations in companies and family businesses for 20 years.

Academician Professor Milan Krajnc is a regular member of several Academies of Science and Literacy, as well as a professor at several universities around the world and the author of more than 400 books in the field of leadership and relationships. He is nominated for the Nobel Prize for Economics and Peace.