

Mimi Denisi is an actress, director, playwright, translator, producer and theatre entrepreneur. She graduated from the American College of St. Paraskevi, and holds a BSc in the Modern Greek and Byzantine Studies from the Philosophical School of the Kapodistrian University of Athens. She has also graduated from Giorgos Theodosiadis Drama School. She translates in four languages; English, French, Italian and German and has translated and edited more than 80 plays and novels. Her latest play has moved on the big Screen commemorating the 100 years from the Catastrophe of Smyrna with a huge success. In 2006, she founded her own Drama School "Central Stage." She has been a member of the Greek playwrights.

In 2009, she was honored by the French Government with the award of the Legion of Honor for her contribution in Art and Literature.

On March 19th 2019, she was the keynote speaker in New York United Nation in the event of "The role of women in times of humanitarian crisis."

The Foundation of Ecomenical Hellenism has titled her as Supreme President for her Contribution to Hellenism.